Who Is at the Controls?

Allen Webster

If life is a flight through time, who is in the cockpit?

If life is a joyride, who is behind the wheel?

If life is a voyage, who is at the helm?

Decisions determine direction (Joshua 24:15). Direction determines destiny (Matthew 7:13–14). Will we ascend or descend at the judgment? It depends on who makes our decisions.

ME

Invictus is commonly quoted by valedictorians at high school graduations across America. It sums up the philosophy of many youth as they begin their adult lives. It was written by William Ernest Henley, an early humanist who was crippled since his childhood in Gloucester, England. His “Master-of-my-fate-captain-of-mysoul” philosophy was only a little ahead of its time.

*Out of the night that covers me,
Black as the Pit from pole to pole,
I thank whatever gods may be
For my unconquerable soul.*

*In the fell clutch of circumstance
I have not winced nor cried aloud.
Under the bludgeoning of chance
My head is bloody, but unbowed. . . .*

*It matters not how strait the gate.
How charged with punishments the scroll,
I am the master of my fate;
I am the captain of my soul.*

Frank Sinatra’s song “I Did It My Way” is often requested at funerals. From the beginning of adult life to the end of it, many say, “I make my own choices—no body tells me what to do.”

Bible examples abound of those who had self on life's throne. Note the personal pronouns of a certain rich man:

What shall I do, since I have no room to store my crops? So he said, "I will do this: I will pull down my barns and build greater, and there I will store all my crops and my goods. And I will say to my soul, 'Soul, you have many goods laid up for many years; take your ease; eat, drink, and be merry'" (Luke 12:17–19).

God called him a fool (Luke 12:20). Another rich man had the "me" philosophy and awoke in torments (Luke 16:23).

Self-will took Nebuchadnezzar from his throne (Daniel 4:30–37) and kept Moses from Canaan (Numbers 20:8–12). Felix trembled at the thought of giving control to Christ (Acts 24:25); Agrippa came close to handing over the reins, but not close enough (Acts 26:28). The prodigal is not the only young man who has let such thinking take him to the far country and into the pigpen of sin (Luke 15:11–32).

We will never be able to pull ourselves from the mire into which sin has sunk us. The man who says he is in control of his life is mistaken. The devil allows him to think so, but serving self is sacrificing at Satan's altar. There are no free men in sin's death camp (Romans 6:17, 23).

When we were young, our fathers may have allowed us to "drive" in the driveway while sitting in their laps. We felt we were in control, but if the car veered, Dad quickly took over. Many are sitting in Satan's lap, "steering" their lives to a lake of fire. "Me" is not a safe guide for life (Proverbs 14:12; Jeremiah 10:23).

MEN

Others allow public opinion to make their decisions. How many should make Saul's confession? "I have sinned, for I have transgressed the commandment of the Lord, and your words, because I feared the people and obeyed their voice" (1 Samuel 15:24).

Adam gave in to Eve and let forbidden fruit get him into a jam (Genesis 3:6). Abraham feared Abimelech enough to tell a lie (Genesis 20:11). Aaron made a golden calf at public demand (Exodus 32:21–24).

In the New Testament, Pilate wanted to set Jesus free, but he was too much of a people-pleasing politician to stand by his decision (Matthew 27:2–26). Many rulers believed on Jesus but would not confess Him, "for they loved the praise of men more than the praise of God" (John 12:42–43; cf. 5:44). Even Barnabas gave in to peer pressure and disassociated himself from Gentiles (Galatians 2:13).

We must strongly resist the pressure to conform to the world's mold (Romans 12:1–2). Evil companions are bad for good morals (1 Corinthians 15:33), so we should stay away from them as much as possible (1 Thessalonians 5:22). Pitching tents toward Sodom has left behind the smoking ruins of many families (Genesis 13:12; 14:12; 19:16, 24, 26, 31–36). Any who love the opinions of father, mother, wife, children, brothers, or sisters more than Christ, cannot be His disciple (Luke 14:26; cf. 18:29–30). Men do not have a safe guideline for crossing the chasm that divides earth and eternity (Matthew 7:13–14).

MESSIAH

A third choice is to allow Christ to rule life. He stands knocking at the door of every heart (Revelation 3:20), but He will never force entry (cf. Luke 24:28–29). He drafts no soldiers, and presents no subpoenas for His mediatorship (Matthew 22:37; 2 Corinthians 5:14). One who comes to Jesus must renounce all (Revelation 12:11), take up his cross, and follow as closely as he can in the Master's steps (Luke 14:26–27; 1 Peter 2:21–22).

The choice is difficult, but it is never regretted (2 Corinthians 7:10). His truth sets us free (John 8:32); His life is abundant (John 10:10); His rule is not burdensome (1 John 5:3). Joshua gave God his life (Joshua 24:15) and was never disappointed. Paul gave Christ his heart and never looked back (Acts 9; 2 Timothy 4:6–8; cf. Luke 9:62).

The truth is, "No servant can serve two masters; for either he will hate the one and love the other, or else he will be loyal to the one and despise the other" (Luke 16:13).

A Merry Heart Doeth Good

A husband, trying to prove to his wife that women talk more than men, showed her a study which indicated that men use about 15,000 words a day, whereas women use 30,000 words a day. She thought about it, and then she told him that women use twice as many words as men because they must repeat everything they say. Stunned at this, he said, "What?"

The Plain Truth about Money

Small children are often fascinated with money because it is shiny and small enough to go into their mouths.

Eventually they reach a time when they learn that money has the power to buy things. That is a new reason for them to like money. In their teen years, their thinking can be dominated by a desire to possess money to impress others or to buy things that dad and mom will not buy for them. As adults . . . well, suffice it to say that a lot of adults are fond of money.

Money in and of itself possesses no moral qualities. It is neither righteous nor unrighteous. It is an inanimate object, a means or tool that can be traded for something else.

It is one's attitude toward money that adds an element of morality. Consider the following six truthful statements about money. May they serve as a reminder and warning.

Money cannot buy love. Back in the 1960s, the Beatles sang, "I don't care too much for money, 'cause money can't buy me love." It was true then; it is true now. Money may impress and attract folks to a money-possessing person, but money does not buy genuine love.

Money does not grow on trees. How many times did our parents tell us that when we wanted something we could not afford? Because it is true that we cannot get money by snapping our fingers, we need to be good stewards with the funds that God has placed in our hands (cf. 1 Corinthians 4:2). Paul wrote, "Owe no one anything" (Romans 13:8). Christians ought not to get themselves into debt that they cannot pay.

Money is not the root of all evil, but the love of money is the root of all kinds of evil (1 Timothy 6:10). The love of money is covetousness, and covetousness is idolatry (Colossians 3:5). A love affair with riches has ruined friendships, marriages, and even congregations.

Money cannot save a soul. Money can be used to support preaching (2 Corinthians 11:8-9). It can be an instrument to edify the faithful, but it cannot save.

Money will not accompany us when we leave this world. Regardless of how much one has, money stays behind—we cannot take it with us. "We brought nothing into this world, and it is certain we can carry nothing out" (1 Timothy 6:7).

Money is not success, and success is not possessing money. Oh, if we could only help folks to see this! Some rich people will go to hell. Some poor folks will go to heaven. One's eternal destiny is not determined by financial status. Listen to what the Lord told Joshua about success: "This Book of the Law shall not depart from your mouth, but you shall meditate in it day and night, that you may observe to do according to all that is written in it. For then you will make your way prosperous, and then you will have good success" (Joshua 1:8). That is true success.

Let each resolve to accept these truths about money, and beware of "the deceitfulness of riches" (Mark 4:19).

—Roger D. Campbell

Let's Pull Together

At a county fair, townspeople held a horse-pulling contest.

The first-place horse moved a sled weighing 4,500 pounds. The second-place finisher pulled 4,000 pounds. The owners of the horses decided to see what the horses could pull together, so they hitched them and found the team could move 12,000 pounds! By working separately, two horses were good for only 8,500 pounds. When coupled together, their synergism produced an added 3,500 pounds. It is a hard lesson, but unity consistently produces greater results than individual endeavors. "Teamwork divides the effort and multiplies the effect."

How About the Grown-ups?

"Daddy, I want to ask you a question," said little Bobby after his first day in Sunday school. "Yes, Bobby, what is it?" "The teacher read the Bible to us. It was about the children of Israel building the temple, the children of Israel crossing the Red Sea, and the children of Israel making sacrifices. Didn't the grown-ups do anything?"

God Always Has an Answer

It is easy to get discouraged when things go wrong, but we must not lose heart.

God is at work in the world, even in the midst of pain and trial. The next time your world is burning down, remember that it just may be a smoke signal to summon help. God has a positive answer for any negative thought we have:

We say: "It's impossible."

God says: "All things are possible" (Luke 18:27).

We say: "I'm tired."

God says: "I will give you rest" (Matthew 11:28).

We say: "I can't do it."

God says: "You can do all things" (Philippians 4:13).

We say: "I'm not able."

God says: "I am able" (2 Corinthians 9:8).

We say: "It's not worth it."

God says: "It will be worth it" (Romans 8:28).

We say: "Nobody really loves me."

God says: "I really love you" (John 3:16).

We say: "I can't go on."

God says: "My grace is sufficient" (2 Corinthians 12:9; Psalm 91:15).

We say: "I can't figure things out."

God says: "I will direct your steps" (Proverbs 3:5-6).

We say: "I can't forgive myself."

God says: "I forgive you" (1 John 1:9; Romans 8:1).

We say: "I can't manage."

God says: "I will supply all your needs" (Philippians 4:19).

We say: "I'm afraid."

God says: "I have not given you a spirit of fear" (2 Timothy 1:7).

We say: "I'm worried and frustrated."

God says: "Cast all your cares on Me" (1 Peter 5:7).

We say: "I don't have enough faith."

God says: "My Word will give you faith" (Romans 10:17).

We say: "I'm not smart enough."

God says: "I will give you wisdom" (1 Corinthians 1:30; James 1:1-5).

We say: "I feel all alone."

God says: "I will never leave you or forsake you" (Hebrews 13:5).

ASAP

Ever wonder about the abbreviation ASAP? It brings to mind hurry and stress—"Get this done as soon as possible." Let us give it a new meaning.

There is work to do, deadlines to meet. You have no time to spare, but as you hurry and scurry—ASAP (Always Say A Prayer).

In the midst of family chaos, quality time is rare. Do your best; let God do the rest—ASAP (Always Say A Prayer).

It may seem like your worries are more than you can bear. Slow down and take a breather—ASAP (Always Say A Prayer).

God knows how stressful life is; He wants to ease our care. He will respond to all our needs—ASAP (Always Say A Prayer). —Author Unknown

CONSIDER THE CHILDREN

Children are precious. They were brought into this world through no desire of their own. Many are abused, used as pawns, neglected, denied, and betrayed. Such is not fair.

Dr. R. F. Hertz, a British psychologist, engaged in a research project of wide interest. He has asked almost 100,000 children between 8 and 14, from all walks of life, in 24 countries, to list 10 rules of behavior for parents. Here is the list:

- Do not quarrel in front of children.
- Treat children with equal affection.
- Never lie to a child.
- Develop tolerance between parents.
- Maintain comradeship between parents and children.
- Treat your children's friends as welcome visitors in the house.

- Always answer children's questions.
- Do not blame or punish children in the presence of their friends.
- Concentrate on your child's good points. Do not overemphasize his failings.
- Be constant in affection and mood.

This list should cause parents to stop, look, and listen. Read it again carefully, thoughtfully, and with self-inspection and evaluation. How are children treated in your home? They deserve the best.

God gives this advice: "Do not provoke your children to wrath, but bring them up in the training and admonition of the Lord" (Ephesians 6:4).

VOLUME 25:8

Are Illnesses Such as Alzheimer's Disease from God?

"As Jesus passed by, He saw a man who was blind from birth. And His disciples asked Him, saying, 'Rabbi, who sinned, this man or his parents, that he was born blind?'" (John 9:1-2).

The disciples expressed a common belief of that day, that illness is often, if not always, punishment for sin. The disciples even considered that the man may have caused his own blindness by his sin in the womb!

Jesus made it clear that the man's illness had nothing to do with sin or punishment from God. He said, "Neither this man nor his parents sinned, but that the works of God should be revealed in him" (John 9:3). Jesus then gave the man his sight, and he worshiped Jesus as the Son of God.

From where does illness come? Many times lifestyle has an effect on health. Smoking, promiscuous sex, poor dietary choices, a sedentary lifestyle—and many other things have ill effects on health. As people mature, many make choices they hope will help avoid illness. Most will never know how much a healthy lifestyle has already protected them from the diseases that plague mankind.

For many illnesses, medical science has no good explanation as to cause. Certainly, smoking increases one's chances of getting lung cancer, but nonsmokers get lung cancer also.

Illnesses such as Alzheimer's disease are being studied. Doctors at some point may have suggestions as to what may lower risk of this disease, but there does not seem to be any good scientific explanation yet on how to avoid it.

When the patriarch Job lost his possessions, his family, and his health (Job 1-2), his three friends assumed that God was punishing Job for his great sins. Eliphaz told Job, "Remember, now, whoever perished, being innocent? Or where were the upright ever cut off? Even as I have seen, those who plow iniquity and sow trouble reap the same. By the blast of God, they perish, and by the breath of His anger they are consumed" (Job 4:7-9). His friend Zophar went so far as to say, "Know therefore that God exacts from you less than your iniquity deserves" (Job 11:6).

While there are consequences for sin, in actuality, Job was suffering precisely because he was a righteous man. "The Lord said to Satan, 'Have you considered My servant Job, that there is none like him on the earth, a blameless and upright man, one who fears God and shuns evil?'" (Job 1:8). Job wanted to know why he suffered, but even when God spoke to him out of the whirlwind, He never told Job the reason.

We live in a world that is under the curse of sin (Genesis 3), and illness is one consequence of Adam's choice, a choice we also make (Romans 3:23). Nothing indicates, however, that God punishes anyone with a particular disease today. Illness is not an indication of God's punishment, and good fortune is not necessarily an indication of God's approval.

God will help us cope with the difficulties of disease and suffering if we will turn to Him. Those who suffer and those who care for them deserve our prayers and support.

Ten Facts about the Church of Christ

We read of it in the New Testament (Romans 16:16).

It exalts Christ as the only head of the church (Ephesians 1:22).

It has no creed but Christ and binds no name on its members but the divine name, Christian (Acts 11:26).

It speaks where the Bible speaks and is silent where the Bible is silent (1 Peter 4:11).

It pleads for the unity of all believers in Christ (John 17:20-21; 1 Corinthians 1:10).

It is not a denomination, nor a group of denominations, but simply the body of Christ (Ephesians 5:23; Colossians 1:18).

Its founder is Christ Himself (Matthew 16:18).

Its aim is to save souls by gospel preaching (Romans 1:16).

Its worship is patterned after the New Testament (John 4:24).

It teaches that scriptural unity can be attained on all disputed doctrinal questions (1 Corinthians 1:10).

Every Man's Book

The Bible is every man's book. To know the Bible and to handle it correctly is one of the greatest accomplishments within the reach of any person.

One may know English, astronomy, literature, music, sociology, and philosophy, but if one does not know the Bible, one has failed in the only subject that brings all things into the proper relationship and enables one to know life at its best. The best evidence of the inspiration of the Bible is found between its covers. No one will ever be a useful Christian without being a student of the Bible. Matthew Henry said, "The Scriptures were not written to make us astronomers, but to make us saints."

The Bible is not intended solely for some special group. It is every man's book; it was written for the average person. Scholars may study it, but it is not written for scholars. No one ever outgrows the Scriptures. The more one studies them, the wider and deeper they become. The Bible enables every reader to look into eternity.

It is no wonder that Paul urged Timothy to study the Scripture, "rightly dividing [handling aright] the word of truth," so he might be an approved workman before God (2 Timothy 2:15).

The Bible acknowledges man's faults; it is patient with man's weaknesses; it is honest with his virtues and his hopes. To own the Bible is to be rich. To study, to know, and to trust the Bible is to find life. To study the Bible is to be wise; to obey it, to be strong.
